View Financial Aid Award Letter

As an incoming college freshman, you will receive an award letter after you have been accepted. It is very important to review this letter and understand the different types of aid you are being offered. Check for your award letter in your MyDenison portal. If you are not sure of what your award letter means, schedule a time with your IKIC Advisor to review the aid you are being offered.

Register for Orientation

Colleges hold orientation for incoming students to help with the transition into college. Freshman orientation is a way for students to meet other students, become familiar with campus services, and register for fall classes. Be sure to register for your school's freshman orientation as soon as possible. If you wait, you might lose out on your preferred orientation date(s).

Placement Testing

After you've been accepted, you may need to take placement tests. Colleges use placement tests in subjects like math and English to check the academic skill levels of entering students and to ensure that you register for classes at the right level. Reach out to your admissions counselor for information regarding placement testing.

Verification

Some applications are selected for a process called "verification," either by random selection or because of conflicting information on the FAFSA. If your application is selected for verification by your schools' financial aid office, they will likely request certain documents from you. The purpose of verification is to make sure accurate information is provided on the FAFSA.

Be sure to check your email and other communications from Denison to see if you have been selected for verification.
